Understanding Agility in OSRS

Agility is a skill in OSRS that affects the rate at which a player's run energy depletes and regenerates. Higher agility levels result in slower run energy depletion, allowing for longer periods of running without resting. Agility also grants access to various shortcuts around the game world, improving overall efficiency in quests, boss fights, and general travel. Agility training primarily involves completing agility courses that require players to navigate through obstacles in a specific sequence. Each course provides experience points (XP) upon completion, with more challenging courses offering higher XP rates. This skill is unique in that it combines physical activity within the game world with the potential for collecting marks of grace, valuable items used to purchase the graceful outfit, which further enhances agility training benefits.

Levels 1-30: Beginner Agility Training

Starting agility training at level 1 involves using beginner courses that are easy to navigate and provide steady experience gains suitable for new players. The most commonly recommended course for levels 1 to 10 is the Gnome Stronghold Agility Course, located just south of the Tree Gnome

Stronghold. This course is designed to introduce players to the mechanics of agility training with simple obstacles.

Gnome Stronghold Agility Course

This course is the ideal starting point for players beginning their agility journey. It requires no prerequisites and offers approximately 8,100 experience per hour at low levels. The obstacles include balancing on logs, climbing nets, and crossing tightropes. Players should focus on completing laps smoothly to maximize experience.

Draynor Village Rooftop Course (Levels 10-30)

Upon reaching level 10 agility, players can transition to the Draynor Village Rooftop Course, which offers increased experience rates and the chance to begin collecting marks of grace. This course is more challenging than the Gnome Stronghold course but provides better XP and rewards. It is located in Draynor Village and is accessible via a short walk from the bank, facilitating efficient training sessions.

- Level requirement: 10 Agility
- Experience rate: Approximately 15,000 XP/hour
- Rewards: Marks of grace for graceful outfit
- Location: Draynor Village rooftops

Levels 30-52: Intermediate Agility Courses

From level 30 to 52, agility training becomes more efficient by utilizing courses that offer higher experience rates and better rewards. The Varrock Rooftop Course is the preferred choice for this range due to its accessibility and moderate difficulty.

Varrock Rooftop Course

The Varrock Rooftop Course requires level 30 agility and provides approximately 25,000 experience per hour. It is situated on the rooftops around Varrock, offering a mix of agility obstacles such as tightropes, ledges, and balancing beams. Players benefit from a nearby bank and the continued opportunity to collect marks of grace. This course strikes a balance between XP gain and convenience, making it ideal for intermediate players.

Canifis Rooftop Course (Level 40+)

For players who have reached level 40 agility, the Canifis Rooftop Course presents an alternative that can yield slightly better experience rates. Located in the dark and eerie town of Canifis, this course challenges players with unique obstacles and continues to offer marks of grace. It is especially beneficial for players engaging in Slayer tasks or activities in the surrounding areas.

- Level requirement: 30-52 Agility
- Experience rate: 20,000-28,000 XP/hour
- Marks of grace availability
- Course locations: Varrock and Canifis rooftops

Levels 52-70: Advanced Agility Training

The mid-level agility range focuses on courses that significantly increase experience rates and provide enhanced rewards. The Seers' Village Rooftop Course is highly recommended for players in this level bracket due to its high XP and mark collection rate.

Seers' Village Rooftop Course

Accessible at level 60 agility, the Seers' Village Rooftop Course is one of the fastest agility training methods in this range, offering around 30,000 to 45,000 XP per hour. The course is located in Seers' Village and includes various rooftop obstacles such as tightropes, ledges, and balance beams. Its proximity to banks makes it convenient for prolonged training sessions. Players can also collect marks of grace more frequently here, which is beneficial for long-term rewards.

Pollnivneach Rooftop Course (Level 61+)

For players who have reached level 61 agility, the Pollnivneach Rooftop Course provides a comparable alternative to Seers' Village. Located in the desert town of Pollnivneach, this course offers similar experience rates and mark of grace drops. It is especially useful for players engaged in desert quests or activities.

- Level requirement: 52-70 Agility
- Experience rate: 30,000-45,000 XP/hour
- Marks of grace collected
- Locations: Seers' Village and Pollnivneach rooftops

Levels 70-99: Expert Agility Courses

Training agility from level 70 to 99 focuses on high-level courses that provide the best experience rates in the game. The Werewolf Agility Course and the Ardougne Rooftop Course are the top choices for expert players aiming to maximize their training efficiency.

Werewolf Agility Course

The Werewolf Agility Course, accessible at level 70 agility, offers one of the highest experience rates available, approximately 50,000 to 70,000 XP per hour. This course is located in the Werewolf area of Canifis and features complex obstacles that require precise timing and agility. It also provides frequent marks of grace, making it an excellent option for players seeking both speed and rewards.

Ardougne Rooftop Course

Also available at level 70, the Ardougne Rooftop Course provides a competitive alternative with roughly 50,000 XP per hour. Located in Ardougne, this course is favored for its proximity to the Ardougne teleport and bank, facilitating fast banking and extended training sessions. Players can collect valuable marks of grace here as well, which are essential for maintaining stamina during long training periods.

Additional High-Level Methods

Beyond rooftop courses, expert players may also consider the Agility Pyramid and the Hallowed Sepulchre minigame for varied training experiences. These methods offer unique XP gains and rewards, catering to different preferences and play styles.

- Level requirement: 70-99 Agility
- Experience rate: 50,000-70,000 XP/hour
- Marks of grace for graceful outfit
- Locations: Werewolf Course, Ardougne rooftops, Agility Pyramid

Tips for Efficient Agility Training

Efficient agility training in OSRS requires careful planning and resource management. Utilizing the graceful outfit to reduce weight and enhance run energy regeneration is critical for maximizing training duration. Players should also focus on completing laps smoothly to minimize failures and downtime. Incorporating stamina potions can further increase run time and reduce the need for resting. Additionally, using agility-boosting items such as the summer pie or energy bracelets can significantly improve training speed. Finally, training agility in combination with activities like Slayer or quests can optimize overall gameplay efficiency.

- Wear the graceful outfit for reduced weight and better run energy
- Use stamina potions to extend running periods
- Practice courses to minimize obstacle failure
- Combine training with other activities for time efficiency
- Utilize energy-boosting consumables

Utilizing Marks of Grace and Agility Rewards

Marks of grace are valuable drops obtained sporadically while training on rooftop agility courses. Collecting these marks is essential for purchasing the graceful outfit, which significantly benefits agility training by reducing weight and improving run energy regeneration. Players should prioritize collecting marks of grace during training sessions to accelerate the acquisition of the full graceful set. Additionally, completing agility-related quests and diaries can provide experience rewards and unlock new training methods. Proper use of these rewards enhances the overall agility training experience and contributes to reaching level 99 more efficiently.

- Focus on collecting marks of grace during rooftop courses
- Exchange marks for pieces of the graceful outfit
- Complete agility-related quests for XP and unlocks
- Utilize diaries for additional agility benefits
- Maintain the graceful outfit for optimal training performance
