How to Use Freetress Clean Therapy Braiding Hair

Proper application of freetress clean therapy braiding hair is essential to achieve the best results and maintain hair health. This section outlines the step-by-step process for using the product effectively.

Preparation Steps

Before installation, it is recommended to wash and condition natural hair thoroughly. Detangling the hair and sectioning it into manageable parts facilitates neat braiding. Additionally, prepping the braiding hair by gently separating strands helps prevent clumping.

Braiding Techniques

Freetress clean therapy braiding hair is compatible with various braiding styles, including box braids, twists, cornrows, and crochet braids. Depending on the desired look, users can select the appropriate technique:

- Box Braids: Section hair into square parts and braid synthetic hair with natural hair for a uniform appearance.
- Twists: Use two strands of hair twisted together for a textured, rope-like style.
- Cornrows: Braid hair close to the scalp with synthetic hair extensions woven in for intricate patterns.
- Crochet Braids: Attach braiding hair to cornrowed bases using a latch hook for instant volume and length.

Securing the Braids

After braiding, sealing the ends with hot water or styling gel helps prevent unraveling. Properly securing the braids ensures durability and a polished finish.

Maintenance and Care Tips

Maintaining freetress clean therapy braiding hair properly extends the lifespan of the style and protects the natural hair underneath. This section highlights essential care practices.

Cleaning and Washing

Regular cleansing is important to remove dirt, oils, and product buildup. Use a mild shampoo diluted with water, gently washing the braids without excessive rubbing. Follow with a light conditioner or leave-in spray to maintain softness.

Moisturizing and Scalp Care

Moisturizing the scalp and braids prevents dryness and itching. Light oils or scalp sprays designed for braided hair can be applied to keep the scalp healthy and hydrated.

Nighttime Protection

Covering braids with a satin or silk scarf or bonnet at night reduces friction and frizz. This practice helps preserve the neatness and longevity of the braids.

Signs to Replace Braiding Hair
