Understanding Tailoring Basics in Burning Crusade

Tailoring in The Burning Crusade is a primary crafting profession that focuses on creating cloth-based gear, bags, and spellthreads. It is essential for cloth-wearing classes such as Mages, Warlocks, and Priests, but also valuable for any player interested in producing high-demand items. The profession requires skill points to level up, which are gained by crafting various items. Tailoring uses cloth materials primarily, and mastering it can provide both gameplay advantages and economic benefits. This section introduces the core concepts and mechanics of tailoring in the expansion.

What Tailoring Offers

Tailoring allows players to craft:

- Cloth armor pieces with stats tailored for specific classes.
- Specialized bags like the Netherweave Bag, which provide increased inventory space.
- Spellthreads that enhance gear with additional bonuses.
- Tailoring-exclusive items used in endgame content or PvP.

Understanding these offerings helps players decide how to invest their time and resources in the profession.

Profession Interface and Mechanics

Players interact with Tailoring trainers to learn new patterns, which unlock crafting recipes. Skill points increase by crafting items, and higher-level recipes require more advanced materials and skill levels. Managing reagents and balancing crafting for skill gains versus profit is a key part of the profession.

Leveling Tailoring Efficiently

Leveling Tailoring in Burning Crusade requires a systematic approach to maximize skill gains while minimizing resource waste. Tailoring skill ranges from 1 to 375 in the expansion, necessitating different strategies at various stages. This section outlines optimal leveling paths and recommended items for each skill bracket.

Starting Out: Levels 1-75

At the beginning, crafting simple cloth armor and low-level bags is the fastest way to gain skill points. Linen Cloth is the primary material used, and players should focus on items that provide a high skill-up chance per resource spent.

Mid-Level Crafting: Levels 75-225

As skill increases, players transition to using Wool and Silk Cloth. Crafting items like the Heavy Wool Bandage and Silk Headbands are effective for leveling. Players should also begin collecting patterns from vendors and quests to expand their recipe list.

Advanced Levels: Levels 225-375

At higher levels, materials such as Mageweave and Netherweave Cloth become essential. Crafting Netherweave Bags and specialized armor pieces yields significant skill gains. Efficient farming of Netherweave Cloth is critical during this phase.

Essential Materials and Where to Farm Them

Materials are the backbone of tailoring crafting in Burning Crusade. This section identifies key reagents and optimal farming locations to gather them efficiently. Mastery of material acquisition directly impacts crafting speed and profitability.

Primary Cloth Types

The primary cloth materials used in Burning Crusade tailoring include Linen Cloth, Wool Cloth, Silk Cloth, Mageweave Cloth, and Netherweave Cloth. Each corresponds to different skill levels and crafting recipes.

Farming Locations for Netherweave Cloth

Netherweave Cloth is the most valuable and commonly used material in the expansion. It drops primarily from humanoid mobs in Outlands zones such as:

- Hellfire Peninsula
- Zangarmarsh
- Terokkar Forest
- Nagrand

Targeting these zones for farming ensures a steady supply of materials essential for high-level tailoring.

Additional Materials

Other materials like Primal Nether and Arcane Dust are often required for advanced recipes. These can be obtained through disenchanting or specific farming routes involving elemental mobs.

Best Tailoring Recipes and Patterns

Knowing which recipes to prioritize can accelerate tailoring progression and increase profitability. This section highlights essential patterns and where to acquire them.

Key Bags and Their Patterns

Netherweave Bags are among the most sought-after items crafted by tailors in Burning Crusade. Their patterns are usually sold by tailoring vendors and require a high tailoring skill to craft. Larger bags increase player inventory space, making them highly valuable in the marketplace.

Popular Armor Sets

Tailors can craft several class-specific armor sets that are useful for leveling and early endgame content. Examples include:

- Spellfire Set
- Imbued Netherweave Set
- Primal Mooncloth Robe

These items often require rare patterns obtained from dungeons, raids, or reputation vendors.

Spellthreads and Special Items

Spellthreads are unique tailoring items that add extra stats to existing gear. Crafting these can provide a valuable advantage in both PvE and PvP scenarios. Patterns for spellthreads are usually obtained through reputation rewards or specific high-level crafting trainers.

Specializations and Their Benefits

Burning Crusade tailoring offers specialization options that allow players to focus on a particular subset of recipes and benefits. Choosing the right specialization can enhance crafting efficiency and open up exclusive items.

Mooncloth Specialization

Mooncloth specialization enables tailors to craft Mooncloth armor and bags, which are highly sought after. This specialization requires the Mooncloth Spell and related recipes, typically obtained from reputation vendors or high-level trainers.

Spellfire Specialization

Spellfire specialization focuses on creating powerful Spellfire armor sets. This path is ideal for players who want to produce high-end crafted gear for themselves or the auction house.

Primal Mooncloth and Additional Paths

Advanced tailors can craft Primal Mooncloth used in high-level gear and bags. Specializing in these recipes often involves farming rare materials and gaining reputation with specific factions in Outlands.

Economic Strategies: Making Gold with Tailoring

Tailoring is not only a crafting profession but also a lucrative source of income in Burning Crusade. This section explores strategies for maximizing gold through crafting and sales.

Crafting High-Demand Items

Items such as Netherweave Bags, spellthreads, and popular armor pieces consistently have strong market demand. Prioritizing these items for the auction house can yield substantial profits.

Material Farming and Resale

Efficiently farming and selling raw materials like Netherweave Cloth and Arcane Dust can be profitable, especially when tailoring demand is high. Players can capitalize on market fluctuations by stockpiling materials during low demand periods.

Utilizing Reputation Vendors

Reputation factions in Outlands offer unique tailoring patterns and materials. Investing time to gain reputation allows access to rare recipes and crafted items that can command premium prices.

Crafting for Specific Markets

Tailors can focus on crafting for PvP players by producing gear with PvP stats or for raiders needing specialized bags and spellthreads. Understanding the target market helps tailor crafting efforts for maximum return.

1. Focus on leveling tailoring efficiently by crafting skill-up items.
2. Farm Netherweave Cloth and other essential materials in Outlands zones.
3. Acquire key patterns from trainers, vendors, and reputation vendors.
4. Specialize in Mooncloth or Spellfire tailoring for exclusive recipes.
5. Leverage the auction house by crafting high-demand bags and armor.
6. Build reputation with factions for access to rare patterns and materials.
7. Adapt crafting output based on market trends and player demand.

Frequently Asked Questions

What are the key tailoring professions to focus on in Burning Crusade?

In Burning Crusade, key tailoring professions focus on making spellthreads, bags, and specialized cloth armor such as spellfire and shadoweave sets. Prioritizing spellthreads and bags can be highly profitable and useful for players.

How do I level tailoring efficiently in Burning Crusade?

To level tailoring efficiently, gather or buy all necessary materials in advance, focus on crafting items that give the most skill-ups per material, and use tailoring patterns that are easy to farm or purchase. Crafting bolts of Netherweave cloth early on is essential for skill progression.

Where can I find the best tailoring trainers in Burning Crusade?
