Program Overview

The Tallahassee Memorial Family Medicine Residency is a fully accredited graduate medical education program that prepares physicians for independent practice in family medicine. The residency is affiliated with Tallahassee Memorial HealthCare, a regional medical center known for its commitment to quality care and community service. The program is structured to provide a balanced education in outpatient and hospital medicine, with exposure to a variety of patient populations and clinical settings. Emphasis is placed on preventive care, chronic disease management, and the social determinants of health affecting the Tallahassee community. Graduates leave equipped to deliver comprehensive primary care and to serve as leaders in their communities.

Program Mission and Goals

The mission of the Tallahassee Memorial Family Medicine Residency is to educate competent, compassionate family physicians who deliver high-quality, evidence-based care and address the health needs of diverse populations. The program aims to:

- Develop clinical expertise in all aspects of family medicine

- Promote lifelong learning and professional growth
- Encourage community engagement and advocacy
- Foster research and quality improvement initiatives
- Prepare residents for board certification and successful careers

Curriculum and Training

The curriculum at Tallahassee Memorial Family Medicine Residency is comprehensive and designed to meet the evolving needs of family medicine practitioners. It provides progressive responsibility over three years, integrating core family medicine knowledge with subspecialty exposure. The program utilizes evidence-based guidelines and incorporates patient safety and quality improvement principles throughout the training.

Clinical Rotations

Residents rotate through a variety of clinical settings to build a broad skill set:

- Outpatient Family Medicine: Primary care clinics focusing on preventive care, chronic disease management, and acute illness treatment.
- Inpatient Medicine: Hospital-based care involving medical wards, emergency medicine, and critical care units.
- Pediatrics: Comprehensive care for infants, children, and adolescents.
- Obstetrics and Gynecology: Prenatal care, deliveries, and women's health services.
- Surgery and Specialty Clinics: Exposure to orthopedic, dermatology, psychiatry, and other specialty areas relevant to family medicine.

Didactic Education and Conferences

Structured educational sessions supplement clinical training, including weekly lectures, journal clubs, case presentations, and simulation exercises. These activities enhance knowledge retention, critical thinking, and clinical decision-making. Residents participate in morbidity and mortality conferences and interdisciplinary meetings to develop collaborative skills.

Faculty and Mentorship

The residency program is supported by a dedicated team of experienced faculty members committed to resident education and professional development. Faculty members are board-certified family physicians with diverse clinical interests and academic expertise. They provide personalized mentorship, fostering an environment that encourages questions, research, and innovation in patient care.

Role of Faculty in Resident Development

Faculty serve as clinical preceptors, educators, and advisors throughout the residency. They guide residents in clinical reasoning, procedural skills, and patient communication. Regular feedback sessions and evaluations ensure continuous improvement and goal setting. The faculty also encourages residents to participate in scholarly projects and community outreach initiatives.
