The costume can range from a simple accessory-based outfit to a full character representation. Key components typically include mouse ears, a cookie prop, and clothing that reflects the story's playful tone. Mouse Character Elements

To embody the mouse from the story, the costume should include distinct mouse features such as ears, whiskers, and a tail. These elements can be crafted from felt, foam, or fabric and attached to a headband or clothing. Soft, neutral colors like gray or brown are commonly used to mimic the mouse's appearance. Options include wearing a cookie-shaped hat, carrying a large cookie prop, or integrating cookie patterns into clothing. These accessories help clearly convey the story's theme and make the costume instantly recognizable to students.

Clothing and Overall Look

The base clothing for the costume should be comfortable and school-appropriate. Neutral-colored pants or skirts paired with a simple shirt can serve as the foundation.
