Saline Solution

Woke up with a head full of static

Trying to find a way to fix it

I poured a saline solution in my eyes

Washing away the lies

Heartbeat like a breaking wave

Crashing on the shore of yesterday

Your voice a distant echo in my mind

A saline solution for my time

And I'm drowning, but I'm healing

In the saltwater, I'm feeling

The pain dissolve, the wounds realign

In this saline solution of mine

Every scar tells a story untold

In the saline, they start to unfold

Cleansing the hurt that I tried to hide

With every drop, I feel alive

So I'll keep pouring the saline down

Till the darkness leaves this town

In the healing tide, I'll find my way

With the saline solution to stay
